

TORONTO FOOD FILM FEST ANNOUNCES ITS FULL LINEUP OF FILMS

TORONTO - Following a summer of amazing food and movies, Toronto Food Film Fest (TFFF) is thrilled to announce its full lineup of films for this year's festival. Held October 14-17, 2022, the festival will include film screenings paired with carefully curated snacks, as well as talks, tastings and dinners. The selection this year, stronger than ever, includes two Canadian feature films as well as a selection of shorts from Toronto filmmakers showcased on opening night of the festival.

With a lineup of 8 feature films and 18 short films, TFFF promises to showcase some heavy-hitting films including two Canadian feature films. Movies such as Umami (France) making its North American premiere from Cannes Film Festival-selected director Slony Sow will offer the audience a scripted, fictional escape through a French chef travelling to Japan played by Gerrard Depardieu, whereas Copenhagen's award-winning Director Miki Mistrati poignantly sheds a light on child slavery in the cocoa and chocolate industry in Chocolate Wars.

Chefs will once again be serving carefully curated snacks to pair with each screening, and Bottega Volo, now in the Royal Theatre lobby, will be offering their exclusive concessions.

Back at The Royal Theatre on College Street and other Little Italy venues for the first time since COVID, The TFFF will once again bring together food and film lovers from across Toronto combining in-person screenings, workshops, dinners, tastings and more. Many of the movies will also be available virtually to Ontario residents, providing greater accessibility to all.

"We are thrilled to bring back the Toronto Food Film Fest for its fourth iteration and back to where it all began. It is an honour to be able to introduce our audience to the best of what the independent film community has to offer through another hybrid event," says Jacqueline Tam, co-founder of The Festival. "Bringing people together through food and film has always been a goal of TFFF and this year we seem to have a common theme of bringing food and family together. I am equally thrilled that our local independent film market will be showcased this year."

Limited early bird VIP and the "All You Can Watch" pass will go on sale on August 29 as well. Be sure to get your tickets early – they include all the exclusive perks not available to the a la carte standby tickets.
